

FEAMC supports Dermot Kearney in defense of unborn life

8 June 2021

The Presidency of the Feamc is next to Dr Dermot Kearney, it is at his side, it supports his actions in defense of unborn life and against abortion. Feamc is proud of Dr. Dermot's conduct and warns the British Medical Association to take any action to block freedom of thought and treatment.

Vincenzo Defilippis, president of FEAMC

The story of dr. Dermot Kearney in preventing abortion

At the request of a leading abortion provider, a doctor in the UK has been banned by the Medical Practitioners Tribunal Service from helping women to reverse the effects of their chemical abortions. He could be deregistered.

As often happens, this story is a tangled one. Bear with us.

During the UK's first lockdown, abortion providers lobbied to send chemical abortion drugs to women through the postal service. They would never see a doctor; instead, they just took two pills and waited for the foetus to be expelled.

Some women regretted their impulsive decision as soon as they had taken the first pill. For them, Dr Dermot Kearney prescribed progesterone, a hormone for treating natural miscarriages, in an attempt to cancel the effects of the abortifacient, mifepristone. This is an off-label use of progesterone.

He claims that of 73 women, 38 of them managed to hold on to their babies — a success rate of almost 50%.

According to the Daily Mail, MSI Reproductive Choices, formerly known as Marie Stopes International, filed a complaint. It claimed that Dr Kearney “inappropriately prescribed progesterone to a patient for a use not backed by evidence, failed to present a balanced picture of its benefits and risks, and imposed his anti-abortion beliefs on her.”

Andrea Williams, chief executive of the Christian Legal Centre, said: “Babies are alive today because mothers reached out to Dr Kearney and he provided effective and safe abortion rescue. This ruling punishes the life saver, is deeply wrong and needs to be overturned.”

Dr Kearney, a cardiologist and emergency physician and the president of the Catholic Medical Association, has been told by the MPTS that “he must not prescribe, administer or recommend progesterone for abortion reversal treatments”. Otherwise, he can continue practicing until the hearing.

By Michael Cook, editor of BioEdge